Key

-  Core Executive branch agencies delivering policy advice, regulation, government services, funding and commissioning. Public Service Commissioner holds employment relationship with chief executives and manages performance (except in the case of Crown agents).
-  Agencies subject to some level of Ministerial direction or influence. Public Service Commissioner has roles relating to promotion of integrity, terms and conditions of chief executives, investigations and inquiries, and workforce policy (note that role varies depending on agency type).
-  Parts of central government, included in government financial statements. Public Service Commissioner role (e.g. in appointment processes or standards of conduct) depends on specific entity legislation.
-  Public sector entities separate from central government.
